

BLACK EXCELLENCE SPEAKERS SERIES

“Can We Talk?”: Developing a Racial Literacy Practice for Health & Wellbeing

Dr. Deborah J. Johnson

Speaker #3
of 3 part series

Faculty & Staff
Professional Development
Workshop

Thursday, Nov. 14, 2024

@ 3:00pm

NHE 106

Engaging workshop focused on empathy, compassion, and emotional intelligence in teaching and service roles

Register here to receive
CSU Learn credit!

Dr. Deborah J. Johnson is an MSU Foundation Professor in Human Development and Family Studies and Eco-community Psychology. She is the inaugural Director of the Diversity Research Network (DRN) in the Office for Institutional Diversity and Inclusion at Michigan State University. Her current work focuses on the influence of early bias preparation and coping at the intersection of gender and race among African American and Latina College women, and the impact on their well-being and school performance. Dr. Johnson received the Senior Mentor Award in 2019 Society for the Study of Human Development (SSHD).

H. Cal Poly Humboldt
Child Development
& Family Relationships

H. Cal Poly Humboldt
Critical Race, Gender
& Sexuality Studies

H. Cal Poly Humboldt
Office of Diversity,
Equity & Inclusion

H. Cal Poly Humboldt
Human Resources

H. Cal Poly Humboldt
Enrollment Management
& Student Success

CSU The California
State University

For any accommodations
please email
diversity@humboldt.edu or call
(707) 826-4503