

Executing Conversion: Pietist Success and Unintended Consequences

Professor Strom explores the phenomenon of Christian “rebirth” among Pietists, whose zealous attempts to convert even criminals condemned to execution became spectacular media events and spurred tragic imitation.

Friday, 1 May, 5:00PM, Founders Hall Room 025
 Prof. Jonathan Strom from Emory University will give the keynote speech at Cal Poly Humboldt’s Undergraduate History Conference.
