A Forest Journey: The Role of Trees in the Fate of Civilization

Two special evenings with author John Perlin.

Join us for a fascinating evening celebrating Patagonia's enlarged and updated edition of A Forest Journey. John Perlin, author and Visiting Scholar, UCSB, will discuss how trees have changed the world over the last 385 million years, the central role of wood in the development of civilization, civilization's destructive effect on the world's forests over the last six thousand years, and why forests are vital for humanity's survival today.
