

Sustainability Librarian Candidates

Nancy Wallace
June 21, 2022

After working in the tech industry for 20 years, Nancy chose a second career in librarianship, obtaining her MLIS from San Jose State University in 2019. She has worked as a Public Services Librarian at Sacramento City College, providing reference and instructional support. As the Diversity Fellow for the UC Davis Library, she has worked as a Student Services librarian, supporting undergraduate students in the subject areas of humanities, arts, and cultural studies, as well as serving as co-instructor for the First-Year Seminar “Connecting Community and Personal Experience to Humanize Science.” She has served as a reviewer for the Resources for College Libraries GLBT Studies Bibliography, and recently presented at the 2022 California Association of Research Libraries Conference on “Using culturally relevant information literacy instruction to foster student STEM identity.”

Outside of work, Nancy is an avid baseball fan and follows the San Francisco Giants and Chicago White Sox. She also enjoys playing video games, especially Final Fantasy and Stardew Valley, and reading.

Morgan Barker

July 6, 2022

Hello and thank you for being here with me. My name is Morgan Barker. I started my career facilitating outdoor education and adventure. Later on, I traversed into the fields of marketing and design. In 2011, I began teaching and consulting within higher education. I have been an Instructional Designer with Cal Poly Humboldt for the past 9 years. As well, I have worked as Faculty with Shasta College for the last 11 years teaching for the BAITS/Business Division.

I have a long track record of sustainability centered experience. As a teen I volunteered at environmental camps while being a seasoned open water lifeguard, canoe instructor and raft guide. All of that led to being a college student who directed outdoor camps, led leave-no-trace and hug-a-tree workshops, collaborated with CCAT and wrote grants to support the work. As a professional I managed outdoor retail businesses supporting eco friendly product purchasing, coordinated outfitting trips that followed environmentally responsible tactics and implemented project models to support sustainable/ethical manufacturing practices. While in higher education, I have worked closely with Cal Poly Humboldt Librarians on OER/AL$ projects, while implementing the principles/adoption in my own courses at Shasta College, as well as enthusiastically supporting Sustainability Office projects as a designer.

MLIS, San Jose State University (Library and Information Science, Higher Education)

MBA, Cal Poly Humboldt (Business Administration)

BA, Cal Poly Humboldt (Recreation Administration, Business Administration Minor)
